

Year 3 have been learning about pollination and the different parts of flowers. Here is Ariane's beautiful flower dissection poster.

Remote Learning - Pupil Work

Members of Year 7 have been working hard in Spanish this week, working on a project about Spanish-speaking cities. Hermione chose Valencia, producing this colourful poster en español.

From the Head

It is always a pleasure and a highlight to look through the Week on a Friday, and the children are continuing to work hard and produce such high-quality work. We are conscious that these last weeks of the year are normally a time for the children to enjoy all the exciting and special end of year events. Unfortunately, this year, these cannot happen this way, but the staff are planning some fun virtual activities for the last week for the children.

Ahead of this, I have set a new optional baking challenge for this week... a SHOWSTOPPER BAKING CHALLENGE! I celebrated my birthday this week, and my very clever daughter made my birthday showstopper cake... it's a horse, one of my favourite animals! Here is a photo:

There is no set theme for this challenge to allow you to be imaginative and really creative. It is important to plan it before you start and make sure you have the right ingredients. Please send a photo to challenge@junior-kings.co.uk. There is no time limit - please do submit photos and we will feature these across the final weeks of term in the Week.

I wish you all a relaxing weekend.

House Meetings

Please note that there will be House Meetings on Wednesday mornings from 8:30-8:45am for the next two weeks. All pupils in Years 3-8 will receive a Teams invitation to attend these.

On this Friday...

In 2010, Toy Story 3 had its world premiere at the Taormina Film Fest in Italy.

Where in Junior King's is this?

Do you know where you might find this on the school grounds?

Happy Birthday!

We wish a very Happy Birthday to the following pupils and staff who have their birthdays next week

13th June

Poem of the week

Dreams – Langston Hughes

*Hold fast to dreams
For if dreams die
Life is a broken-winged bird
That cannot fly.*

*Hold fast to dreams
For when dreams go
Life is a barren field

Remote Learning - Pupil Work

We are really enjoying seeing the work that you are doing at home. Please do keep sending in photos to your teachers and form tutors so that we can include as many of them in The Week as possible!

The cut off for any entries into The Week is Thursday afternoon, 3pm. Anything received after that will automatically be saved for the following week's edition. Obviously it won't be possible to include everything we are sent in The Week, so do look on our social media pages, Facebook, Twitter and Instagram, for more of your work.

Congratulations to Wendy, who won 7C's Friday form time Bingo session last week. Wendy has won the chance to choose next Friday's fun form time activity!

Here's another beautiful flower dissection poster by Hanya showing the different parts of a flower.

Mrs Pattinson took this photo of a grass snake that she saw on a walk around her home last weekend. Following pupil demand, here it is for everyone to see in The Week!

Last week we asked you to depict what you see through your window. Larry (Year 5) sees a lot of rain!

5C have been thinking about their strengths in PSHE: the things in their lives that they draw strength from in tough times and the people who make them stronger, as well as their character traits and the things they are good at.

Reception followed instructions to make beautiful fish kites this week. Mitzi is taking hers home to fly on a windy day, while Coco and her big sister Isabelle have already had a chance to test theirs out!

Remote Learning

Reception have been learning to count in 2s this week. Olivia practised her counting by playing a pairs game.

This week in Maths, Year 2 have been focusing on directions and turning through a right angle. They have been making wonderful road maps using all kinds of objects from home. Work here by Lucinda, Oliver and Charlie.

In Set 1 Latin this week, Year 6 took a virtual school trip to Lullingstone villa.

Year 8 have been thinking about the abstract in Art and have taken their own photos in and around their houses that will be used as inspiration for a final painting. Pictures here by Olise, Naeto, and Sonny.

Gabrielle says her pinwheel proves that there are particles in the air which push against it to make it turn! Year 1 have made pinwheels and windsocks for their Science investigation topic of “wind” this week, which has got them thinking about things we cannot see but that are definitely there! They have also been watching ‘The Wind in the Willows’ in English and have made headbands and talked as if they are the book’s characters. Charlie R got his whole family to join in the discussion!

Lottie and Olivia (Year 6) drew these detailed henna designs in Art.

Reception have had lots of fun this week. Here’s James making friends with a Painted Lady butterfly and Ady enjoying some Duplo downtime at the end of the busy school day.

Remote Learning

Inspired by their Van Gogh topic, Year 4 took their own landscape photographs and reproduced them in Art. Here is work by Martha and Pippa.

The Buzz with Barbara

Barbara and her Beary Nice Friends!

Thank you for sending in so many lovely photos of you with your teddies and cuddly toys. It has been so nice to see your photos this week and to fill an entire page with colourful photos. There are certainly some very well-loved toys out there.

THE MINI WEEK

FROM THE PRE-PREP

Fun fact:

Did you know that Magellan T. Bear, manufactured by the North American Bear Company, became the first official teddy bear in space, flying as the 'education specialist' aboard Space Shuttle Discovery on the STS-63 mission in February 1995. He now lives in the National Air and Space Museum in Washington DC, USA.

Lots of love and see you next week,

Art in lockdown: interview with Mrs Sylvester

This week we caught up with Mrs Sylvester to talk about the challenge of bringing Art lessons online.

What projects are different year groups working on right now?

Online learning has proved quite a challenge for the Art Department (that's me!). Art is all about shared experience, creative thinking, discussion, making and analysis, which results in quite a challenge while we work apart! I have tried to design projects for each year group that take into account limited resources, but include actual making skills inspired by artists and designers.

Year 3 are doing a project inspired by Georgia O'Keeffe's flowers. I was struck on my daily dog walk how people's gardens have been very well tended this year and so many beautiful flowers have come into bloom. The pupils are working towards a large single flower composition based on their own photos.

Year 4 have started a Van Gogh project looking at his landscapes, the gestural marks that he uses and his colour palette. Did you know that he spent time in Ramsgate, just round the corner from where I live and taught in a school for a year? He said his time in England was the happiest time of his life! The pupils are now working towards a large landscape piece based on their own photographs.

Year 5 are continuing to work on a project based on leaves and have been inspired by the Arts and Crafts movement and William Morris. They collected a range of leaves, pressed them, drew them, made a pattern and an illuminated letter based on their collection. We are now moving to transferring this pattern onto a design for a mug. This would have been done using clay had we been undertaking the Summer Term as normal, but we are going to be resourceful with card and silver foil!

Year 6 are continuing their colour and pattern topic and, having looked at the amazing collage artist Rex Ray, they are now exploring henna designs. They will be producing their own patterns in relief on a large hand.

Year 7 have just started a photomontage project and have been learning about the technique and its political significance. We have been influenced by the work of Hannah Höch, John Stezaker and John Heartfield, to mention a few. The pupils will be producing their own photomontage and be drawing this in biro.

Year 8 have just started an abstract project following on from their illusion topic before half term. We have been exploring the definition of "abstract" and getting to grips with the key elements. Mondrian has been a real influence and the pupils have taken some abstract photos inside and outside, looking at geometrical shapes. We will then be developing these into paintings using masking tape to create straight edges or collages.

The planning and delivery of the lessons has been quite a shift for me, but I have really enjoyed trying out and learning lots of new techniques. My house is quite full of these try-outs and my step-sons have absolutely loved being my guinea pigs!

What has the work been like that you have been sent?

I have been really impressed with the work that has been sent in! The standard has been incredibly high and pupils have worked well independently, facing lots of creative problems, and developing interesting responses and use of materials!

How are you finding the live elements of your lessons?

The live element is working well! It can get a little fraught when everyone has a question or opinion as I am teaching whole year groups at a time! But I love seeing the pupils' faces and it's great when they show me their work.

What has been your Art highlight of the year?

Definitely the 90th anniversary mosaic crown, which is still up in Reception. It was quite a logistical challenge to get every pupil in the prep school making a tile but it came together beautifully in the end and I really think it is a great testament to how a collaborative piece can work. The estates team were amazing with how they put it all together. And working with a professional artist was a great experience for everybody!

Who are your favourite artists?

Well, this is a tricky one... To teach, I love showing pupils Picasso's work as he was such a genius and so prolific. He crosses so many styles and techniques that you could really design projects for every year group using his work. I also absolutely love William Morris's work as he was so influential on the path that design took, from architecture to furniture to textiles. He also had an interesting background and social conscience and used his art to influence change.

To hang on my wall, I like work that you could look at every day and see something different in the work. I love Peter Doig's work. I saw an exhibition of his a few years back at the Tate Modern and I went back five times. His work is mesmerising! Anselm Kiefer is another favourite; a German artist who I first saw at an amazing exhibition at the Hamburger Bahnhof gallery in Berlin. I actually cried!

If money were no object, I would absolutely love to hang a Rembrandt on my wall. I would love to examine his fantastic use of colour and light every day!

Chemistry Experiments at Home

Year 8 have been working on some fascinating Chemistry projects that examine acids and alkalis as part of their remote learning. The task was to create indicators using fruits or vegetables or spices that could be obtained in their part of the world, before testing them with some (safe) household chemicals. Pupils had to research the materials to identify the active chemicals and predict what the colour change would be before carrying out the investigation and producing a formal write-up. The year group were encouraged to work across both sets and forms and they have produced some wonderful work. Here are extracts from Cameron and Celia's write-ups.

Cameron's Project

Table of results:

Indicators:	Lemon Juice	Filtered Water	Soda Bicarbonate solution
Radishes	Light Yellow/Orange	Light Purple	Dark Pink
Beetroot	Purple/Scarlet, slightly light	Red/Scarlet	Deep Purple/Scarlet
Blueberries	Very light Pink/Yellow	Slightly dark Blue	Very light Green. Repeated afterwards for enjoyment of siblings and that time was very Green.

Year 6 Persuasive Writing

Mrs Pattinson's Year 6 English set have been looking at persuasive writing, designing a gadget that a spy might use and producing pieces persuading spies to buy it, incorporating all of the features of persuasive writing. Here are some lovely examples from Ola, Juliette, Edward and Yewon.

Watch out for the new spy watch 20000!

Imagine having a spy watch that can do just about everything and be such a useful part in your mission! Well now you can stop daydreaming, because the new and improved spy watch is here, with its amazing new features.

Gadget in disguise

If you are a spy in disguise this is the gadget for you! It is almost impossible to tell the difference between the real design and the spy gadget form. This gadget is one of a kind, if you need help on a mission, or you need back up, or just to get in touch with your co-spies in camouflage.

The gadget is called the W.T.M-Original. It is superb on the go and very handy. With its layer of fresh edible peppermint mints, so no one is suspicious when opened, with also a flip layer under the mints containing the radio devices. It is a great way to hide the fantastic creation.

This boastful device shows its skill; when you put the W.T.M-Original on, it instantly turns invisible! Such an amazing feature as you look undercover and very secretive when talking to the HQ or your co-spies. It is a wonderful touch of detail because all you have to do is stick on the device next to your eyebrow and you connect instantly.

I am sure you will agree this is a 'must have', essential item. Even the Charlie's Angels have used it in very top secret important missions! ## Local Charities Appeal 2020

Charities have seen a devastating decline in donations and financial support in recent months.

The Friends of Junior King's needs your help.

We know times are hard for everyone, but the families at Junior King's have always generously supported those in need in our local community, and that support is needed more than ever now.

If you would normally have attended our events, or bought our strawberries, apple juice or any of our House Supporters' paraphernalia at Sports Day; if you would normally have left a note in the collection baskets at the end of any school productions, or church services; or if you would normally have attended the School Summer Fair and contributed to its stalls, then please donate whatever you can, but we hope at least £10, to the FJKS account (with reference: APPEAL) by Friday 19th June.

Account Name: Friends of Junior King's

Sort Code: 40-16-11

Account number: 02002914

We will then divide your contributions equally and donate them to:

Food Bank: a community project and registered charity providing emergency three-day food parcels to individuals and families in short term financial crisis across Canterbury, Whitstable, Herne Bay and surrounding villages.

Porchlight: a charity for homeless and vulnerable people in Kent. They are there for people who have nowhere to go and no-one to turn to.

Pilgrims Hospices: East Kent's largest hospice charity. They help people facing incurable illness to live well in every moment.

If you can please, please help.
Thank you.
