

Brilliant baking! Oliver M, Devita and Dhiya made some delicious treats for Mrs Károlyi's baking challenge.

Remote Learning – Pupil Work

Year 7 have produced such an exciting variety of responses to their Art photomontage project. Here are pieces by Erik, Emily P and Leo.

Tapping into the political potential of the photomontage technique, Erik said the following about his work: 'I wanted to do something around the Black Lives Matter movement. I started with Martin Luther King as an activist against racism, followed by American symbols of freedom, like the Statue of Liberty and the American flag. I then added some of the recent American victims of violence – George Floyd and Breonna Taylor – followed by the symbol of fight: the fist (symbol for BLM). In addition, I included the crown art by Basquiat, as an influential artist who was fighting for equality and highlighting racism'.

From the Head

The term is rapidly reaching its end, and we are all looking forward to the final events next week to mark the end of the school year. The staff have put in a great deal of thought and hard work to mark the end of another school year, and what an unprecedented one it has been. We all wish that we could be enjoying the normal events and celebrations together as a community at this time.

I greatly enjoyed attending the virtual Year 8 transition event this week and am very grateful to Mr Harrison, Head of Shell, who answered many of the pupils' astute questions about life and expectations at King's, and responded to their concerns. I am very proud of this group of children and know that they will continue to flourish in the coming years.

In this copy of The Week, you will find further details on the end of term arrangements, including Speech Day on 1st July, which will feature very special speeches from our Heads of School, the Dean of Canterbury Cathedral and the Bishop of Dover.

The staff and I will continue to keep all parents up to date with the plans for September.

I wish you a safe, healthy and relaxing summer holiday.

On this Day...

In 1945, the United Nations Charter was signed by 50 nations in San Francisco.

Where in Junior King's is this?

Do you know where you might find this on the school grounds?

Poem of the week

Talent – Carol Ann Duffy

This is the word tightrope. Now imagine a man, inching across it in the space between our thoughts. He holds our breath.

There is no word net.

*You want him to fall, don't you?
I guessed as much; he teeters but succeeds.
The word applause is written all over him.*

Weekly challenge

I hope you enjoy looking at this tapestry! Can you recognise the 11 different sites and buildings around our school site?

Year 6 Geography Quiz Results

All pupils in Year 6 have taken part in a Geography Quiz this week, reflecting back on the things they have learnt this term, and the results were as follows:

6F	6M	6P
1st Treasure	1 Hanshuo	1 Yewon
2nd Olivia	2 Theo	2 Lucas
3rd Joshua	3 Charlie	3 Sean

The overall winner across the year group was Yewon with an amazing 54,753 points! Well done to all pupils in Year 6 this term for their hard work in Geography lessons.

Goodbye Poem to Year 3

Goodbye Year 3. I shall miss you very, very much.
 You were fun and kind.
 I will never want to leave you.
 But when I do leave for Year 4 I shall never forget you.
 My sunny classroom and funny teacher I will always remember.
 My caring friends I will take with me but I will always remember what fun we had in Year 3.
 I will always remember the fun and silliness we went through.
 And now thinking of ending it is just so sad.
 I will miss you Year 3.

Remote Learning

Reception have enjoyed a wealth of “under the sea” themed activities this week. Olivia learned about sea turtles and used her imagination and creativity to make her own turtle friend; Harriet scuttled like a crab in a sea-themed PE lesson; and Andrew and Savannah conducted experiments to find waterproof materials.

The Tree of Hope

In my Tree of Hope,
 Everyone is kind,
 Everyone is caring, giving, loving,
 In my Tree of Hope
 We all speak our mind,
 We all care, give and love.

And every single time we trust,
 Which is essential, we really must,
 A single apple grows and grows.
 Until it turns the colour of a new, red rose.

And with this apple we all share,
 We always do because we care.

Everyone is caring, giving, loving.

After that, the tree gives us air,
 To help us breathe and say a prayer.
 This air is so delicate, so pure.
 Always there to reassure.

We breathe it in, we breathe it out,
 To never have a single doubt.

Everyone is caring, giving, loving.

Finally, the tree shows us love,
 Like an elegant, swooping dove.
 And with this love, we make it last,
 Because we know; slow, not fast.

In my Tree of Hope,
 Everyone is kind,
 Everyone is caring, giving, loving,
 In my Tree of Hope
 We all speak our mind,
 We all care, give and love.

I Come From...

I come from evergreen lands and sandy beaches
I come from sunny spells and dazzling afternoons
I come from singing birds and soaring kites
I come from roaring waterfalls and howling winds
I come from shooting stars, twinkling in the darkness
I come from mild winters and boiling summers
I come from universal love, burning in me and you
I come from bumpy roads that never will run smooth
I come from mountains high and steep
I come from twists and turns and crooked paths
I come from dangers never seen
I come from giggling faces of my dear friends
I come from rolling laughter of my siblings
I come from unshakeable faith in my future
I come from bright colours and fancy things
I come from my gadgets humming now and again
I come from tangled wires and broken keyboards
I come from my tattered suitcase that has been to so many countries
I come from my favourite comedies that make me feel alive
I come from strawberry flavoured ice cream
I come from hot chocolate buns and rolls and cupcakes
I come from dangerous gymnastic stunts
I come from 'please, sit still' and 'please, behave yourself!'
I come from many many cells so vibrant and alive

By Amina (Year 7)

There was once a boy from Sturry
Who was told never to worry or hurry
But he worried and worried
And hurried and hurried
Until he packed his bags and went to Surrey

By Oliver

I Come From...

I come from houses and farms
From the noises and barks
I am from the stables
The bright green colours in my grandma's cups
To the memories of me in my shirt
I wish those fields were still yellow
From wishes my dogs were still young
I am a rider, a jumper
I have a story to tell
I have many friends because of The school I am at Too many holidays in too much time
The fun and joy I have
The places I see and the joy I experience
I love everything, all the places I see

On the Beach of Beauty

On the beach of beauty, I beheld a sound of swift silent, soapy waves, a dog dancing and dreaming in the sea and a curious bird seeping through the mist.

On the beach of beauty, I beheld a magical cloud colouring the blue, a lily leaping and leaning from side to side and a breath of the beloved wind warming my heart.

On the beach of beauty, I beheld a glimmering gorgeous breath-taking moon, a set of radiant, neon stars glaring bright, painting a picture in the sky and the soft sleeping sad stones lying in peace.

On the beach of beauty, I beheld a dazzling daisy devouring the sun, a patch of luscious long green grass, a wondrous butterfly whispering and a small group of sunset coloured seashells making a pattern in the sand.

The Class of Compassion

In the class of compassion, I created a beautiful big blue ball baffling along, a school of scandalous whales, swimming, a cerulean cautious caterpillar in a capacious cave and an eagle-eyed egocentric elephant, enjoying the view.

In the class of compassion, I created a big-hearted bright sun smiling down on me, a superior salmon, screaming sanctimoniously, a careful content crocodile calmly clapping and an eccentric eagle soaring away.

*In the class of compassion everyone is smiling, everyone is calm
and everyone is content.*

The Well of Wishes

In the well of wishes, I wandered upon the stone staircase, stepping silently, once reaching the top, breathing heavily and heaving myself skyward.

In the well of wishes, I wondered when will this end? Climbing and climbing but then I slipped and light is out of sight.

In the well of wishes, I wandered left and right and I saw a distant door desperate to be discovered

In the well of wishes, I wandered through the delicate door and the beaming bright light blinded me and the soothing breeze made me at ease.

and an energetic elephant eating enormous eels.*

In the classroom of curiosity, I created a yellow unicorn using a unicycle and a kind kangaroo climbing King Peak quickly.

In the classroom of curiosity, I created a clever cap maker wearing his cap curiously and a furious fiery firefly flapping ferociously.

Lucky Pebble

Do you want to know why this pebble is lucky?

*I found it whilst camping, four hours away
And before we drove home,
I placed it right on the bumper.
I hoped it would stay.*

And it did.

*Through a rainstorm and traffic, through many a mile,
My pebble held on.
When I hold it, I smile,
For it makes me remember When we travelled so far and my pebble rode all the way home
On the car.*
